THE Fenians promise another movement towards Canada. They show great activity throughout the country, and may keep their word of promise, and invade the Dominion before the summer closes.

THE House of Representatives has at last appointed a Committee to inquire into the treatment of prisoners of war by the rebels. All former soldiers, who have experiences elucidating this matter, which are really important, are desired to send this Committee a statement of what they know.

ON Saturday a sharp personal debate occurred between Mr. FESSENDEN, of Maine, and Mr. CHANDLER, of Michigan, the latter being the aggressor. Such a colloquy is spicy reading even in these hot days, but adds neither to the reputation of the interlocutors nor to the dignity of the body of which they are members.

THE fact that the two Houses adjourned till 21st November by almost if not quite unanimous votes, shows that few or none of the members concurred with Mr. SUMNER in the opinion that it was necessary to stay and watch the President. Whatever that high functionary may intend, or actually do, Congress appears to rest in confidence that it is master of the situation.

MR. N. A. GRAY, formerly editor of the Cleveland Plaindealer, has created a sensation in Ohio by denouncing, in a speech delivered at Youngstown, the rebel proclivities of Mr. Thurman, the Democratic candidate for Governor. From Mr. Gray's high position, for many years in the Democratic party, and from the cogency of the facts adduced by him, the impression made by his speech is profound.

IN THE Luzerne district Mr. GEO. W. Woodward has a competitor for the democratic nomination for Congress in the person of Mr. George Sanderson, of Scranton. Twenty years ago this gentleman was State Senator from the Bradford district; but removed to Scranton, where he is engaged in banking.

The Republicans of Susquehanna claim the honor of furnishing the nominee, and present the names of R. B. Little, Esq., and Col. John Blanding.

THE PRESIDENT, having repeatedly failed to nominate a Minister to Austria acceptable to the Senate, sent in at last the name of Mr. Horace Greeley. If a majority of the Senators are in reality half as anxious to be rid of him for awhile as they sometimes profess to be, they will confirm him in the appointment, provided he will accept it; which we doubt. If he should go as Minister to Vienna, however, we suspect the Republican party would miss his steady shoulder at the presidential raising next summer, more than half a score of republican shoulders in the Senate.

WE thank the Leader for the following neat and deserving compliment paid Mr. Hartzell on the quality of his Court reports. The mention of the Leader, we are pleased to know, is heartily seconded by the members of the legal fraternity and the officers of the Courts. Yesterday it said: "The Court reports of the GAZETTE during the late term of the Criminal Court were the best specimens of judicious and correct legal reporting we have had in the city press for many a day. W. M. Hartzell, the city editor of the GAZETTE, makes this feature of reporting a specialty, and is highly successful in interesting the reader by his accurate reports of legal proceedings.

THE public declaration of Garibaldi that "the time had come to deliver Rome from the Papal tyranny," is attracting much attention in Europe. It is conjectured he will soon make his attempt, and with means which promise complete success, unless France shall interpose to arrest his course. The Italian government is under treaty obligations to maintain the present status; but treaties are made only to be kept until one or other of the contracting parties finds some motive of convenience or interest to repudiate it. At best, Victor Emmanuel can be expected to oppose only a formal hindrance to measures dictated by his policy and tending to the aggrandizement of his dynasty.

A YOUNG WOMAN, of good family, over in Susquehanna county, made the acquaintance of a young man who had come into her neighborhood to reside; fell in love with him, and promised to be his wife. Her "unreasonable father" wrote to the town the young man came from, and found he had a wife and two children there. The young woman insisted her lover was persecuted, and absconded from home to elope with him. The young man was arrested; told where the girl was; she was recovered, and he cleared out. It takes multiplied lessons to learn foolish girls common prudence in respect to marriage, and then the girls always have plenty of friends foolisher than themselves to teach them additional folly.

Return of the Fenian Brig from Ireland.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 20.—The little brig which conveyed a party of twenty Fenians to Ireland, including Generals Warren and Nagle, the account of whose landing and arrest at Dungarven, Ireland, has been published, has arrived back. It appears she was chartered by a wealthy Irishman of this city, who is reported to have cleared her with a cargo of hardware, said hardware being two thousand muskets and considerable ammunition. Arriving off the coast of Ireland, it was found the brig was not provided with boats, and most of the party were obliged to jump overboard in the night and swim ashore in the surf. The brig attracted attention from the coast guard, but managed to elude them. The cargo of muskets has been discharged, and many are now on the way towards Canada. Two or three of the original party of Fenians came back in the brig. The expedition was conducted with the utmost secrecy.

CHICAGO, July 20.—The great suit of Gerritt Smith against the Chicago Tribune for libel, laying his damages at $50,000, was settled to-day, after a personal interview between Smith and the proprietors. Smith charges that the Tribune accused him of feigning insanity and taking refuge in an asylum to avoid the consequences of his complicity in the John Brown raid. This intimation the Tribune, upon the strength of depositions from medical men as to Smith's real insanity, retracts, and admits that Smith was really insane. They add that they have Smith's assurance that while personally ignorant of John Brown's intended raid into Virginia, he loved and admired Brown, his principles and his courage, and that he reveres his memory. This statement by the Tribune will be published to-morrow, and the suit has been dismissed.

Canal Company Muddle.

BALTIMORE, July 20.—The stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company have rejected the act of the last General Assembly, directing the State Board of Public Works to vote for a President and four Directors, upon the nomination of preferred bondholders. The canal company will commence legal proceedings at once.

CONGRESS
In Extraordinary Session.

Passage Between Senators Chandler and Fessenden.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL NOVEMBER.

WASHINGTON, July 20, 1867.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON CITY OFFICERS.

Mr. HARLAN moved to take up the House bill regulating the election of officers for Washington City.

The point of order was raised that the consideration of this bill was in violation of the rule adopted at the commencement of the session, and it was decided the bill could not be taken up.

THE ADJOURNMENT RESOLUTION—PASSAGE BETWEEN SENATORS CHANDLER AND FESSENDEN.

Mr. CHANDLER moved the Clerk be instructed to return the adjournment resolution, which had been communicated to the House. He noticed the Senators who voted for the resolution were the same who voted in the spring against any extra session. In the course of his remarks he referred to Mr. Fessenden as the conservative Senator from Maine, who, in April last, had so much confidence in the President as to believe he would call Congress together if necessary. The President in his veto message had said, substantially, he would not enforce the reconstruction act of Congress. He hoped Congress would not adjourn until it had provided for meeting again at an early day. After further remarks, he said there was a sort of hybred concern in the Senate, known as Conservative Republicanism. Like all other hybreds, it was incapable of reproduction. It originated in 1862, under William H. Seward, Thurlow Weed, and a few copperheads and northern rebels. In 1865 it again raised its head in an attempt to unite Republicans and rebels. The highway of Conservative Republicanism was as clearly marked with grave stones, as the highway to California was marked with the carcasses and bones of dead mules. The people had not yet done erecting tombstones. Some of the large cities were conservative; but the people of the United States, nine-tenths, were sound radicals.

REPLY OF MR. FESSENDEN.

Mr. FESSENDEN replied that the Senator's speech was evidently intended as an attack on himself. I have been aware for some time that the Senator and some other Senators designed, deliberately if they could, to injure my standing and position as much as might be done in the party to which I have the honor to belong. This is not the first attack made on me by that Senator and his friends. I am aware that the Senator, and he is not the only one, has taken pains privately to represent me unfavorably, because I do not agree with him in his notions with reference to the conduct of public affairs. It has not been confined to this body and the other house, but has even gone into the reporters' offices, who have been denounced in the same way. Divers and sundry charges have gone in the same way, but my notion is that the reputation of a public man will take care of itself, and when he does right, the public will so determine.

Mr. FESSENDEN then alluded to the attack in a Detroit paper, where Mr. Chandler resides, in which he was denounced as opposing impeachment because he had so many friends and relatives in offices. He had three brothers in office, neither of whom had been appointed at his request, or by his solicitation or suggestion. He had been twitted with the fact that his sons were Generals in the army. God gave him four sons, three of them were volunteers. The other volunteered, but his health broke down, and he was obliged to return home. His youngest son fell in battle. Another had an arm shattered and a leg shot. The third was not wounded. He never asked the appointment of one of them to any position in the army. They got their own recommendations from their superior officer and were promoted through his exertions. They were now out of service entirely. As for himself he had no fear whatever of a radical examination of his course here in the Senate, and out, upon this question or on any other. He would leave his public character to take care of itself. If he had the slightest idea that the Senator from Michigan could say he could affect it before it, he should look upon himself with contempt he did not feel. In conclusion, Mr. Fessenden said the time had come when there was a very serious difference of opinion in Congress upon a very important question. He considered on that question it was not proper for Senators to express an opinion, or even form one. His idea was that the men who might be called to act as Judges should keep themselves from anything that might be supposed to influence their opinion in advance. With regard to this great question, as a matter of good sense, he had not withheld his opinions from his friends, and perhaps that opinion was well-known to the Senate; but should the question come before the Senate, he trusted he should be able to meet it calmly and vote upon it fairly, whether with the majority or minority.

Mr. CHANDLER said the Senator had brought up his family and exhibited it in the Senate. He (Mr. Chandler) had never alluded to that family record at all. He had never seen the article to which Mr. Fessenden alluded as appearing in a Detroit paper. He had attacked Mr. Fessenden on his public record and his public declarations on this floor. It was known, not only in the Senate, but to the country, that the Senator from Maine had stood here, month after month, and week after week, the defender of Andrew Johnson and his Cabinet.

Mr. FESSENDEN—I have to say but one single word, in saying that the Senator from Michigan says what is not true.

Mr. CHANDLER—Was it not a defense of the President to say he would call an extra session of Congress?

Mr. FESSENDEN—No, sir!

Mr. CHANDLER—Then I don't understand the meaning of the English language. He stood here as the defender of the President and Secretary of the Treasury, day after day, week after week. I care nothing about him, nor his family, I care not how many men he has in office, or how many out of office. It is a matter too small to allude to in this body. His public record, his utterances on this floor, his votes, I have a right to comment on. When he talks about contempt for me, I hurl back his contempt with scorn. I have a record as well as he, and I am as proud of it as he. I have nothing on that record to apologize for, or explain my votes or utterances for ten years, and I have never seen any reason to change them or review them.

Mr. SUMNER offered a series of resolutions, declaring the privilege of debate in the Senate with regard to civil officers liable to impeachment. Tabled.

ADJOURNMENT TILL NOVEMBER.

An Executive session was held, and while therein the Senate insisted on its amendment to the adjournment resolution, and asked a conference with the House.

On re-opening the doors, Mr. RAMSAY offered a mileage bill for the extra session. Objection was made.

The Clerk of the House announced it had agreed with the Conference Committee on adjournment, which was also agreed to by the Senate—yeas, seventeen; nays, fourteen.

A committee was appointed to notify the President that Congress was ready to adjourn.

A message from the President announced that he had signed the resolution of sympathy with Crete, and the bill to establish peace with certain Indian tribes, and the bill to carry out the treaty with Venezuela.

Mr. NYE moved to reconsider the vote adopting the conference report. Lost—thirteen against nineteen.

Mr. SUMNER enquired if the President was going to return the bill to establish equal rights in the District of Columbia.

Mr. CONKLING said he had no more bills to return, or which he intended to return.

After another executive session the Senate adjourned till the 21st of November.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

RESOLUTION TO PRINT.

A resolution for printing thirty-five hundred copies of certain chapters of the report of Captain, now Major General, A. C. Humphreys on the physical and hydrography of the Mississippi river, and two thousand copies of the correspondence between the Navy Department and rear Admiral Goldsborough, was adopted.

FOREIGN MATTERS.

Mr. BANKS, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported the Senate bill to carry into effect the Convention with Venezuela for the adjustment of claims of United States citizens. Passed.

Mr. BANKS presented a communication from the Secretary of State in reply to Mr. Robinson's resolution, asking for information in reference to citizens of the United States tried and convicted in Ireland for words spoken or acts done in the United States, transmitting a statement of the Examiner of claims. Laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

INDIAN MATTERS.

On motion of Mr. WINDOM, his own name as one of the Commissioners was stricken out and that of Mr. Tappan substituted.

The bill was further amended, on motion of Mr. WINDOM, by striking out the second and third sections, and inserting in lieu the following: "That said Commissioners are required to examine and select a district, or districts, of country, having sufficient area to receive all the Indian tribes now occupying territory east of the Rocky Mountains, not now peacefully residing on permanent reservations under treaty, to which the Government has the right of occupation, or to which said Commissioners can obtain the right of occupation, in which district or districts shall be sufficient tillable or grazing land to enable said tribes respectively to support themselves by agricultural and pastoral pursuits; said district or districts when so selected, and the selection approved by Congress, shall be and remain permanent homes for said Indian tribes to be located therein; and no person, not a member of said tribes, shall be permitted to enter therein without the permission of the tribes interested, except officers and employes of the United States; provided the district or districts shall be located as not to interfere with travel on highways located by the authority of the United States, nor with the route of the Northern Pacific Railroad, the Union Pacific Railroad, Eastern Division, nor the proposed route of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, by way of Albuquerque."

The bill was then passed.

COMMITTEE POWERS ENLARGED.

On motion of Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, the Judiciary Committee was authorized to send for persons and papers in the investigation as to whether Kentucky and Delaware have governments republican in form; also to appoint sub-committees, with power to administer oaths.

THE BILLS PASSED OVER VETOES.

On motion of Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, the Clerk of the House was directed to present to the Secretary of State the acts passed yesterday over the President's veto.

LEAVE TO PRINT SPEECHES.

On motion of Mr. ASHLEY, of Ohio, leave was given to members who have prepared, or may be preparing, speeches on the veto of the Reconstruction bill, to have such speeches printed in the Globe.

THE ADJOURNMENT RESOLUTION.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the Senate's amendment to the House concurrent resolution about adjournment.

Mr. PIKE moved the House adhere to its action.

Mr. TROWBRIDGE moved to concur in the Senate amendment. Rejected—yeas thirty-two; nays seventy-two.

Mr. PIKE'S motion to adhere was agreed to.

"DETECTIVE" BAKER IN CONTEMPT.

Mr. WILSON, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, reported a preamble and resolution reciting that Lafayette C. Baker had been, on the 21st of July, duly summoned to appear and testify before the Judiciary Committee in reference to certain allegations against the President, and neglected to appear before the Committee, and directing the Speaker to issue his warrant to the Sergeant-at-arms, commanding him to take Baker into custody and have him brought before the bar of the House to answer for contempt of the authority of the House. Adopted.

THE PRINTING OF SPEECHES NOT DELIVERED.

Mr. LOGAN moved to reconsider the vote permitting members who did not deliver speeches on the veto messages to have speeches printed in the Globe. He denounced such practice and showed how it might be abused.

Messrs BAKER, BALDWIN, SCHOFIELD and SCHENCK expressed similar views, and Mr. MARSHALL excused the custom on the ground that under the previous question nine-tenths of the members were precluded from taking part in the debate.

After explanation by the speaker, the vote was reconsidered and the original motion tabled.

IMPEACHMENT REPORT.

A resolution was offered by Mr. LOGAN, amended by Mr. SCHENCK to order the Judiciary Committee to report forthwith all the testimony taken in the impeachment report. Read and adopted.

CABINET PROCEEDINGS.

The SPEAKER presented a message from the President in reply to the House resolution as to the publication of the Cabinet proceedings in reference to the interpretation of the Reconstruction law. Read and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

VIEWS ON IMPEACHMENT.

Mr. WILSON, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, affirmed his belief that the investigation should be conducted with all the principles of the rules of law, and declared that no belief he entertained as to the political importance of forcing the impeachment question on the country, regardless of any other question, could turn him aside from the course he had to take, which the law required him to take.

Mr. BUTLER expressed the hope that the report would be made some time before his death.

Mr. WILSON said the gentleman from Massachusetts was a very restless man, who wanted to have everything in his own way, but he ought to recollect there were other men in the world, besides himself, and they could not all look on questions exactly as he did. He was willing to report the testimony to-day if the House deemed that prudent and desired him to do so; but he suggested it would hardly be a proper proceeding to throw out to the newspapers and politicians of the country testimony on which the House was to act in the future, to have testimony examined, criticised, pecked at in this way and that way, before the House was ready to take it up for action. He was free to say he found in the investigation, and in the President's action before the investigation commenced, abundant evidence to show that every man ought to vote against and condemn him. He by no means apologized for or justified the President's course. It was reprehensible. There might be such a state of facts developed before the investigation closed as would authorize a report by the whole Committee in favor of proceeding against the President, but asked the gentlemen not to draw it out by piece-meal. Let it come in its regular way.

LOCATION OF INDIAN TRIBES.

The Committee on Indian Affairs were instructed to inquire into the expediency of providing for the location of all Indian tribes of the United States on a tract of land sufficient for their necessities, under the superintendence of some humane persons, with a view to the education of such tribes and the protection of all their just rights.

CONFERENCE ON ADJOURNMENT.

The Conference Committee on the concurrent resolution for adjournment reported a resolution that both Houses adjourn at half-past four this afternoon until Thursday, 21st November. Agreed to—seventy-one against forty.

A Committee was appointed on the part of the House to join the Senate Committee to wait on the President.

Mr. COVODE moved to suspend the rules so he might offer a resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee to have printed with the testimony on the impeachment case the reports of the majority and minority.

The balance of the session was occupied in filibustering, and at 4:30 P. M., the Speaker declared the House adjourned till the 21st of November.

THE SURRATT TRIAL.

The Case Nearly Concluded.

WASHINGTON, July 20, 1867.

Dr. Augustus Bissell, residing at 218 West 18th street, New York, testified positively he saw Surratt at the Brainard House, April 14th, 1865. He fixed the date by the fact that his child died on that day.

Witness was examined and cross-examined at length. During the cross-examination he said he did not prescribe for any particular class of disease; always made the practice of medicine a secondary affair; has always speculated, making a dollar whenever he could in a legitimate way; had his attention called to the prisoner by his peculiar dress; looked frequently at witness; came and sat down near him; witness had some conversation with prisoner, which he narrated; never saw him again until to-day; saw him in jail; at once recognized him. The testimony of the witnesses from Elmira first called my attention particularly to the case; have received nothing for testifying in the case, and expect nothing but my expenses.

John C. Bartlett testified that there were no pickets beyond the bridge at T. B. on the 14th of April, 1865.

Mr. Bradley denied that there was any truth in the story that he offered the witness Hobart fifteen hundred dollars to induce him to testify to a different state of facts than had been sworn to. He presumed Mr. Hobart would deny it.

Mr. Pierrepont said such publication had not been instigated or brought about in any way by the prosecution.

Isaac H. Surratt testified to the prisoner's age.

John J. Reeve was recalled and testified, by reference to his book, that Surratt was in his shop, in Montreal, on the 7th of April, 1865, and had his measure taken; the "Garabaldi" was delivered on the 9th.

The defense asked time to produce another witness, Father Boucher, and it was arranged that he should be examined on Monday, if he arrived from Montreal. If not, the prosecution shall put in rebutting testimony and the defense be considered closed.

Mr. Bradley avowed his willingness to submit the case without argument. Mr. Pierrepont said he could tell about that when all the testimony was in.

Adjourned till Monday.

FROM TENNESSEE.

Registration Closed in Nashville—Loyal League and Grand Army of the Republic Expose—Colored Schools—A Radical Citizen Assassinated.

NASHVILLE, July 20.—The Registration office closed permanently to-day. Six thousand voters are registered, of whom sixteen hundred are whites.

The Union and Dispatch will to-morrow publish a copy of the ritual of the organization known as "the" Loyal League of America;" also, a letter disclosing the organization and objects of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Nashville has made arrangements for the opening of schools for colored children next September, and the Board of Education three weeks ago called upon the parents to register their children and get certificates for them. Only a few have presented themselves. The scheme will probably fail, owing to the want of confidence in the sincerity of the city authorities instilled into the minds of the blacks.

NASHVILLE, July 21.—Wm. Scroggs was assassinated last night about nine o'clock, while sitting in his store at Goodlettsville, fourteen miles from Nashville. The gun was fired through a window and several buckshot took effect, killing him almost instantly. A radical meeting had been held in the place during the day, and he took an active part in it. This, it is thought, was one incentive to the murder, though he had been previously threatened. Two men are suspected, and detectives have been sent to investigate the affair.

Order Closing Registration—Trouble Concerning Water Works.

Gen. Braxton Bragg, Superintendent of Water Works, charges Gen. Sheridan's appointees in the Street Commission with a waste of water in cleaning the streets, and threatens prosecution. The Commissioner replies that no more water is used than is necessary, and retorts that a prosecution may be followed by a substitute of officers for the water works company.

FRANKFORT, July 20—Evening—The remarkable degree of activity noticed in the French military workshops, and the continued purchase of horses for the use of the French army, have created a great deal of distrust in financial circles here, and fears that a war is approaching are openly expressed. The Owl says that no intervention by European powers will take place in consequence of the execution of Maximilian.

Latest official accounts from Crete give terrible reports of the cruelties of the Turks. The Cretans having inflicted severe punishment on one of Omar Pasha's spies, this General retaliated by actually crucifying Cretan Priests to satiate his revenge, and at the same time to cast odium upon the Christian religion, from which he apostatised. He next besieged a cavern, in which Greek women and children had taken refuge, and closing the cavern with stones, left them to die of starvation. This renegade is repeating in Crete the scenes of carnage which made him so infamous in Koordistan and Montenegro. He boasts that he will exterminate the Cretans. The Turkish government, staking its faith in this General, declines for the present to yield to the remonstrances of the foreign powers. It declares, however, that it will consult the Cretans' wishes in the event of the revolution not being quelled prior to July 24th. It is stated that as the Cretans are more heroic than ever in resistance, there is no probability of the success of Omar Pasha.

My Beloved Carlotta—If God permits that your health should get better, and should you read these few lines, you will learn the cruelty with which fate has stricken me since your departure for Europe. You took along with you my heart. But my good fortune! Why did not I give heed to your voice! So many untoward events, so many sudden blows, have shattered all my hopes, that death is but a happy deliverance, not an agony, to me. I shall die gloriously, like a soldier; like a King vanquished, but not dishonored. If your sufferings are too great, and God should call you soon to join me, I shall bless His divine hand which has weighed so heavily upon us. Adieu! adieu!

Ward H. Lamon, of this city, has been nominated as Consul General of Havana. He was formerly United States Marshal, &c.

THE IMPEACHMENT TESTIMONY.

The House to-day directed the Committee on Judiciary to report forthwith the testimony in the impeachment case. The Chairman of the Committee immediately collected the manuscripts, and had them piled on his desk, in order at the proper time, to respond to the call; but the resolution of Representative Covode, requiring the report of the minority to be printed in the testimony intervened, and the House, pending its consideration, adjourned till the 21st of November. So the report was not submitted. Several copies of the printed testimony had found their way into the hands of correspondents, but after adjournment, so far as possible, were recalled, the Committee on Judiciary having held a meeting and declared that in view of the facts which transpired in the House, the injunction of secrecy still continued regarding the evidence.

PUBLICATION OF CABINET PROCEEDINGS.

The President's message to the House to-day stated that the publication of the Cabinet proceedings, in interpretation of the reconstruction acts, made in June, was by proper authority. Other questions arising from these acts had been under consideration, upon which no publication in reference to them had been authorized by him, but should it at any time be deemed proper and advantageous to the interest of the country to make public these or any other proceedings of the Cabinet, authority for their publication would be given by the President. He enclosed a copy of the instructions, based on the executive decision.

THE SERENADE—SPEECH OF MR. COLFAX.

Speaker Colfax, in the course of a speech in reply to a serenade last night, said: "The people, surprised at the decision of the President and Attorney General, appealed to Congress, in which they placed such deserved confidence, to reassemble, and from Maine to California they came hither to resume their legislative authority, and so declare the meaning of their legislation that no legal sophistries of any Attorney General could mystify it. Vetoed again, they repassed it by a vote of [illegible] the laws which the President, by his Constitution, must take care to have faithfully executed. Some, I know, condemn Congress for having done too much in its past legislation, and some for having done too little; but I think it has struck the golden mean; firm, and yet prudent; courageous, without undue excitement; inflexible, and yet wise. The President, in his veto, denounces this military despotism, as he calls it, and declares Congress has subjected the south to a tyranny most intolerable. We have heard these charges of military despotism before, during the war, from a party which so bitterly opposed his election three years ago. Every act tending to strengthen the government, such as the suspension of the habeas corpus, trials by court martial, &c., was denounced as a military despotism. But the people rendered their verdict, and it could not be reversed. Instead of tyranny, the key note of Congressional policy is protection to all, and the vindication and triumph of loyalty, and God keeping us, we shall stand by it until it is crowned with triumph."

THE PEABODY FUND IN VIRGINIA.

N. Bates, of Illinois, to be Brevet Brigadier Generals. Brevet Colonel John R. Brooke, Elisha G. Marshal and Adam J. Slemmens, were also confirmed Brigadier Generals by brevet in the army.

NAMES OMITTED.

Some of the names in the vote passing the supplementary reconstruction bill in the House over the President's veto were omitted in the published list. There should be added to the affirmative Messrs. Baldwin, Bingham, Broomall, Hopkins, Hubbard, (Iowa,) Price, Smith, Washburne, (Virginia,) and Wilson, (Pennsylvania,) and to the negative Messrs. Hotchkiss, Phelps and Randall, the full vote being, yeas, 109; nays, 23.

BILLS BECOME LAWS.

It is believed that all the bills passed at the recent session of Congress have become laws, either by the approval of the President, or passage over his veto, with the exception of the bill striking out the word white in the statutes of the District of Columbia, so as to remove the present discrimination against colored citizens in election to office and to occupy seats in the jury box.

COMMITTEE MEETING.

The Judiciary Committee held a meeting to-day and decided that as the impeachment testimony was not presented to Congress it cannot be made public until next session.

LAMON'S NOMINATION REJECTED.

Three chiefs, belonging to a tribe of friendly Sioux, report to Col. Patrick, at North Platte, that a large band of hostile Indians are coming down the North Platte river for the purpose of attacking the settlements. It is thought the party stampeding the stock at Brady's Island, is the advance of this hostile band.

The State of Canca, the great stronghold of Mosquera, recognized the new administration of Acosta. This is considered the final blow to the hopes of Mosquera, and there is little doubt that when the news reaches Carthegena, Bolivia will conform to the existing rule.

Valparaiso dates to the 17th are received. The Republic of Chili continues in a state of political disorder, and the debates in Congress were extremely boisterous, so much so that on one occasion the military was brought into requisition to preserve order. Allegheny Fire Alarm Telegraph.

The Fire Alarm Telegraph in Allegheny having been completed, a meeting of Councils was called on Saturday evening to witness its workings, and test its efficiency preparatory to taking it off the contractor's hands. The test was a most satisfactory one in every respect. The Engine Committee decided on giving an alarm from box No. 31, located at the Mayor's office, to call out the fire department of the city, and in an incredibly short space of time the hose carriages of the Hope and Friendship put in an appearance. The Columbia hose carriage and ladder truck next came in sight, and immediately after them came the Hope and Grant steamers. The race between the steamers was quite exciting, and they arrived in front of City Hall within a few seconds of each other—the Grant having the advantage, if there was any. The time made was as follows: Hope and Friendship hose carriages, two minutes; Columbia hose carriage, two minutes and a half; Hope and Grant steamers, three minutes; Columbia hook and ladder truck, three minutes and fifteen seconds. The time made, as will be seen, is excellent, that made by the Columbia hose carriage and truck, both of which were drawn by hand, being most creditable.

Mr. Gamewell proposed that a second test should be made by giving an alarm from one of the boxes in Manchester, but the members of Councils were so well satisfied with what they had already seen, that the second alarm was not given. The telegraph was then handed over to the city authorities, and is now in perfect order. The batteries and apparatus are located in the third story of City Hall, where a room has been fitted up for the purpose. The central, or general office has been dispensed with, and the alarms are given directly from the signal boxes on the gongs in the engine houses and at the Mayor's office. An ingenious piece of mechanism called a "Repeater," invented by Mr. Edwin Rogers, of Salem, Massachusetts, obviates the necessity of an "operator" at the central station, and at the same time permits of one or more of the "circuits" being "cut off" for repairs while the remaining circuits are in working order. Mr. M. M. McGonnigle received the appointment of Superintendent of the telegraph from the Committee, on Tuesday last, but tendered his resignation. Mr. L. D. McCandless has been appointed to fill the vacancy, and has entered upon the duties of the office. He has had some experience, and will doubtless make an efficient officer.

Boat Races on Saturday.

A scull-boat race, in which very considerable interest was manifested, took place in the Allegheny river, on Saturday evening, between William Jackson, Jr., and Joseph Kaye, Jr., neither over eighteen years of age, both residents of the city. The distance rowed was three miles—from the St. Clair street bridge up the river one mile and a half to a buoy near Herr's Island and return—for a purse of five hundred dollars. Jackson was trained for the race by James Hamill, and Kaye had like service performed for him by Fred. Dierst. The judges selected were John Hamill and John Fisher for Jackson, and David Lewis and William Bostwick for Kaye. The umpire chosen was David Parks. Vast crowds were collected on the bridges and river banks, while the steamers at the wharf were covered with spectators, including the Japanese troupe, who were allowed a position on the steamer Echo No. 2. All being in readiness, the oarsmen in their tiny crafts took their places at the starting point, and the signal was given at twenty-five minutes past five o'clock. They got off well together, neither having any advantage, until in passing Hancock street Jackson showed nearly a length ahead. Kaye, by a vigorous effort, recovered this lost distance, and the boats passed under the Hand street bridge with even bows. At the Railroad bridge Jackson was again ahead, and from this point until the buoy was reached, and on the return, he maintained and increased his advantage, reaching the starting point fully one hundred yards in advance of Kaye. Time, twenty-five minutes.

A race previously took place over the course on the Monongahela, from the bridge to Saw Mill Run and return—three miles—between John Miller and David Fawcett, for a purse of $250. Miller won the race in thirty minutes and thirty seconds, beating Fawcett one minute and forty seconds. A large crowd also witnessed this race.

The "Colored" Question and the Pittsburgh Bar.

The very full attendance of members of the Bar in the Court of Common Pleas, on Saturday, was sufficiently indicative of the interest felt in the application, made on the Saturday previous, for the admission to the Bar of George B. Vashon, a colored resident, claimed to be sufficiently learned in the law to entitle him to recognition as a practitioner. It was understood, it seems, that the rule granted was to be argued on Saturday, but this was a mistake. In the GAZETTE's report of the granting of the rule, it was stated that it would come up for disposition in regular course on the argument list, and such was the arrangement. Other journals, however, announced that the argument would take place on Saturday. Hence there was a general misunderstanding, and greater disappointment felt, the rule not having been argued, or any formal reference made to it.

We learn that the question of citizenship, as regards color, will not be touched. This will take away much of the importance which at first seemed to attach to the proceeding, as all that remains to be enquired into is as to the qualifications of Mr. Vashon, or as to his right to admission on the strength of the certificate of the supreme Court of New York.

It is held by some that a person who practised law ten years ago, and not since, might very properly be refused admission to the Bar on the ground of disqualification. Should this view prevail, and we are inclined to believe it will, Mr. Vashon's admission, on the certificate he claims to hold, will be refused, unless, after undergoing examination before the Committee he is considered qualified to practice. The Court will be governed in its action by the decision of the Committee, to whom the matter will be referred.

"To-lets" in July.

Rents must come down. Under protest, many tenants entered into contracts with landlords to pay for the present year exorbitant rents for dwellings and places of business, simply because a scarcity of houses left them no other alternative. Since then, however, hundred upon hundreds of new houses have been erected and others are being rapidly put forward, so that the supply will probably exceed the demand. This will have the effect of toppling rents, which, in many cases, are now nearly fifty per cent too high. We do not know but some property holders are already beginning to realize that a new order of things is setting in. There are now more "lets" on tenantless dwelling houses in the city, than we have ever before observed in the month of July. All of these houses have been empty since the first of last April, entailing a clear loss on the owners, a majority of whom, doubtless, endeavored at that time to extort unjust rents, and thus frightened away persons who might have leased at fair figures if opportunity had afforded.

Serious Accident.

A serious accident occurred on the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad, on Friday night last, a few miles west of Mansfield, by which a man was severely and perhaps fatally injured. When the train, due here at 9:25 P. M., had passed the station beyond Mansfield, and got under way, the engineer discovered a man sitting on the track, a short distance ahead. He sounded the whistle, and the man got up, but instead of getting out of the way reached over the track for a little dog which was lying beside him. Before the train could be checked, the engine struck the man and knocked him insensible. He was at once taken to Mansfield, and as no person seemed to know him, the officers of the road had him brought to Passavant's Hospital, where Dr. McCook is giving him every attention the nature of his case demands. The man is a stranger, and thus far has been unable to give any account of himself. If this should come to the notice of his friends, it would be well for them to call at the hospital and see to him.

Runaway—Serious Accident.

R. W. Ramsey, proprietor of Military Hall, Union street, was thrown from a buggy, on Saturday, and seriously injured. Mr. R., in company with another gentleman, went to McFarland's Grove in a buggy, and there met Alderman Irwin, of the Ninth ward, who got in with Ramsey for a drive to East Liberty. When near the railroad, the horse frightened at a locomotive which was passing, and ran away, throwing Ramsey, who is a crippled soldier, out of the buggy, dislocating one wrist, injuring his wounded leg badly, and inflicting severe bruises on his face and head. He was taken to his residence, where his injuries were attended to, and he is doing as well as the circumstances will permit. A few weeks since Mr. R. seriously injured his knee by the slipping of one of his crutches.

Such is the capacity of the Weed Sewing Machine that we claim it to be the best in use. Not that every family requires so wide a range of workmanship, certainly there can be no objection if the machine will sew all kinds of work, and use thread from No. 8 up to 150, silk from 000 up to F, and linen and wax thread. Call and examine it at No. 112 Grant street. It is so simply constructed that any person can learn on it.

Very Mean.—Philip Munch, a poor old man, died on Thursday night, four miles from Erie, in a block house on Walnut Creek. His friends went to town to get a coffin, and in their absence a miserable thief crawled through the window and stole the only property the old man had, a fine double-barrelled shot gun.

State Senator.

The undersigned will present to the Union Republican County Convention, the name of RUSSELL ERRETT, Esq., of Robinson township, as an eminently suitable person for nomination as State Senator. For many years he has been intimately identified with the interests of the City and County, and possesses a thorough acquaintance with their resources and their necessities. No man in this community is his superior in knowledge of the wealth, capacities and statistics of the State; and we are confident that he is equal to any in the tact, energy and acquaintance with Parliamentary proceedings, so necessary for a successful Legislator. His integrity is unimpeachable. In his hands the honor and dignity of the County will be well sustained. In politics he has always been true to the most faithful exposition of Republican principles.

We therefore urge upon Republicans in every district of the County to unite with us in securing his nomination.

The Piano War Over—Chickering the Victor.

At the Paris Exposition, gold medals of equal value without distinction, and without priority, were awarded to several piano exhibitors. Among these was one whose work was manifestly superior, but who could only be awarded by the juries an equal medal with the other recipients. The privilege then remained with the Imperial Commission to recommend to the Emperor to confer upon such individual some honor, which should mark and make patent to all the world the distinction between the highest merit and the next degree below.

So the Decoration of the Legion of Honor was bestowed upon Mr. Chickering, to mark the superiority of the Chickering Pianos over all the competitors at the Paris Exposition.

The Order of the Legion of Honor is among the most coveted in Europe. It is borne with pride by reigning monarchs; by the distinguished soldier and sailor; by the most eminent statesmen; by the most celebrated poets, painters, musicians and scientific men, and equally by the artisan who has done something which the world recognizes as worthy of reward. It is an ORDER OF MERIT, and its reception is the highest recognition of merit that can be bestowed in France.

Suborn the accommodating press as the disappointed rivals may, the Decoration of the Legion of Honor, added to the Gold Medal, places Chickering & Sons at the head of all competitors at the Paris Exposition, the battle ground of the world, for superiority of manufacture, and as the inventors of the great cardinal points of improvement of the present century, in the construction of pianofortes.—New York Art Journal.

Assault and Battery with Intent to Commit Rape.

Margaret Sutmeyer, a girl employed in the coffee room in the upper portion of the Market House, made information before Mayor McCarthy, on Friday, against Joseph Thomas, charging him with assault and battery with intent to commit rape. The deponent alleges that Thomas, who is Market Constable, came into the room and sat down on Thursday evening, about eight o'clock, when she was alone, and preparing to leave. After a few moments' chat he got up and commenced to take improper liberties with her. She repulsed him, when he seized her and threw her on the floor. He then attempted to outrage her person, but she succeeded in pushing him away and getting up. She ordered him away, but he approached her again and offered money. She rejected this, and he again seized her and threw her to the floor. She struggled and cried out, and a boy engaged in another part of the building came up. The defendant heard him coming and went away.

Such is the statement of the girl under oath. As for the truth of it we have no idea. The defendant denies making any such attempt. He says he went into the room and joked and frolicked with the girl for a few moments, but nothing more. He was arrested Friday afternoon by officers Moon and Rivers. On Saturday morning he waived a hearing, and was held for trial in the sum of $1,000.

The Luxury in Warm Weather

The exceedingly warm weather suggests cool beverages and delicious ice creams. Of the latter, our friend, Mr P. H. McGuire, No. 89 Fifth street, nearly opposite the GAZETTE building, keeps constantly on hand large quantities of the best to be found in the city, wherewith to supply pic-nics, parties, private families and transient callers. He uses nothing but the purest of cream and the very finest qualities of flavoring extracts and sugar, so that the frozen delicacy procured at this saloon is more than worthy the term delicious. Mr McGuire keeps also on hand a full stock of the choicest of foreign and home made candies and sweetmeats, together with nuts, fruits and general confectionaries. His prices are very reasonable and he will be found a fair dealing and courteous gentleman from whom it is a pleasure to purchase. The soda water drawn at this place is also of a very superior quality, and we bespeak large custom from the thirsty community. Mr. McGuire receives orders for furnishing private families with cakes, creams, confectionaries &c., and attends personally to all details of supplying parties and picnics.

The Cure All.

THE CURE-ALL.—Such is the name given by the experienced veterinary surgeon, Dr. West, at the St. Charles Stables, Third street, to a horse liniment, of which he is the exclusive dealer and manufacturer in this city. It has quite a national reputation and has been used with much success by the principal Veterinary Surgeons of Europe and America. It is represented as a certain cure for sores, wind or saddle galls, sore shoulders, sprains or strains of every description, contraction of the muscles or feet, quittor, thrush, canker, grease heel or scratches, wound in sole or crust of hoof, or any external disease to which a horse may be subject. Dr. West enjoys a high reputation as a veterinary surgeon, and attends to the doctoring and treating of all horses entrusted to his care in the best and most scientific manner.

Death of an Estimable Lady.

We regret exceedingly to announce the death of Mrs Rachel Rodgers, wife of Mr T. B. Rodgers, of the Fort Sumpter Hotel, Pennsylvania Avenue, which took place on Saturday evening. She had been ill for several days, but her demise was quite unexpected. Four weeks since she returned from a visit to her native land, Wales, in prime health, and her hopes for the future brightened. She was universally esteemed for all those good qualities which render woman beloved, and her kindness of heart, sympathy for the unfortunate and suffering, was a ruling trait. Her husband and family have our warmest sympathy in their bereavement. The funeral will take place this afternoon at two o'clock.

Coroner's Inquests.

Coroner Clawson was called upon to hold an inquest on the body of Daniel Mahoney, who died suddenly on Saturday at 1:30 p. m., at the residence of his sister, in Hubley's court, off Harrison street, in the Ninth ward. The jury rendered a verdict of death from natural causes.

An inquest was held on Saturday at one o'clock p. m., on the body of Philip Snaler, an infant, who died in the county jail on Saturday morning. The child was the son of Margaret Snaler, who was committed to jail on the 11th inst., and it appeared from the testimony that it had been sick since that time. A verdict of "death from natural causes" was rendered.

Accident on the Pennsylvania Railroad.—Two freight trains collided on the Pennsylvania Railroad, yesterday morning, near Brinton station. The train going east was behind time, and the engineer had switched on to the other track to allow a passenger train to pass, when the two ran together. One engine and two cars were thrown from the track, and considerably damaged, but fortunately no one was injured. It required about four hours to clear off the track, during which time a number of trains were detained.

Fire in South Pittsburgh.—A fire was discovered about two o'clock, yesterday afternoon, in the roof of a frame building, on Carson street, South Pittsburgh, near the Railroad bridge, owned by Mrs. Bailey of this city, and occupied by several families as a tenement house. The flames were extinguished by the application of a few buckets of water. The damage was trifling. The fire caught from a chimney.

The Pittock-O'Neill Libel Case—A Flat and Decided Contradiction.

The Leader of yesterday says that the case of the Commonwealth vs. J. W. Pittock, indictment libel, on oath of D. O'Neill of the Dispatch, was not continued at the instance of the defendant, as the Dispatch stated. The Leader has the authority of Col. Duff, the District Attorney, for the denial, and it therefore seems the prosecutor through his paper spoke untruthfully. The Leader says his statement "is a deliberate and wilful falsehood, and was known by him to be such when O'Neill uttered and printed it. He resorted to this falsification to impress the public that he was ready for trial, and that Mr. Pittock desired a postponement of the case, as it apprehensive of the result."

THE VETO.

On Saturday we laid before our readers the message of the President to both Houses of Congress containing his reasons for withholding assent to the Supplemental Reconstruction Bill, as, also, the prompt and final action of those bodies upon the whole matter.

That the message is an able document, it would be injustice to deny. Written with great force and clearness, it makes the most that can be made from the President's point of view. But the ground upon which he stands is altogether erroneous. If no rebellion had occurred, rendering necessary and so justifying a resort to military coercion, what the President urges would admit of no dispute. Indeed, no measures would have been instituted or thought of giving room for such an argument. His prime fallacy consists in substantially treating the case as if there had been no prodigious upheaval in the affairs of the Union, and as if the current of events had moved on in the ordinary sequence. In this case, the vast armies that were marshalled, the memorable battles that were waged, the patriotic graves that ridge half the continent, and the most consequential laws that emblazon the national statute books, were all needless and unconstitutional.

The war for the suppression of the Rebellion is a great fact. It stands in history with colossal proportions, almost overtopping the Constitution itself. War knows its own methods. They are not those of the civil code. It is an absurdity to talk of prosecuting war on peace principles. Neither Congress, nor the loyal masses represented therein, made the war, nor are they answerable for it, or the consequences naturally resulting from it. The leaders of the Rebellion were not weak or ignorant men. When they appealed to arms they knew what arbitrament they invoked. When the fortunes of the field compelled them to surrender their arms, they comprehended what fate awaited them if the laws should be allowed to assert irrevocably its claims. "Treason is the highest crime known to the laws, and must be punished as such."

Never before was the punishment of gigantic treason so light. In the history of nations, it has been the invariable rule, when the sword was returned to its scabbard, after quelling a mighty revolt, for the scaffold to make atonement for the violated sanctity of the civil code. In this instance not a victim has suffered; not a drop of expiatory blood has been shed. Only guarantees for future peace have been demanded; and these have been sought not in crushing the insurgent populations, or in decimating the leaders, but in lifting into the sunshine of freedom millions of men and women held in the cruelest bondage. A remedy has been sought, not in the infliction of pains and penalties on those who richly deserved punishment under the laws, but in breaking the bonds of the enslaved and letting the oppressed go free.

This marvellous clemency, in which the President finds nothing to commend, and everything to denounce, to-day excites the astonishment and admiration of the civilized world. For all time it will stand the most illustrious example as yet lifted into conspicuity for the imitation of other governments.

The Senate and House of Representatives did well in not entering upon a formal discussion of the doctrines embodied in the message. In advance, a Washington newspaper, known to be in the confidence of the President, and often to speak by his dictation, admonished Congress that the President would have his message treated with what he was pleased to consider due respect; and the threat was thown out that if this was not done he would resign and precipitate a struggle, which was dimly forshadowed as something terrible indeed, but the exact purport of which was conveniently shrouded in ambiguity. What the President meant by due respect can only be inferred. It has been the custom of the Houses not to debate at length any of the veto messages of the President, but to proceed promptly to the work of passing the bills into laws over his objections, which is one of their constitutional prerogatives. In other words, his arguments have seemed mightier in his own mind than in the minds of the representatives of the States and the people, and this has proved a deep annoyance to him. It seemed disrespectful to him to have his objections dismissed and set aside with an air that possibly imported they were entitled to no special consideration. Hence, we are pleased that Congress did not deviate in this instance from the precedent it had established. Now, if the President will fulfill his threat by sending in his resignation of office, he will perform an official act the country will applaud.

The Supplemental bill is now the law of the land, and the District Commanders will doubtless conform to it with alacrity. What the President will do can only be inferred from his course hitherto. When the Military Government Act was originally passed over his veto, he promised to carry it fairly into execution, not as he thought it ought to have been framed, but as Congress actually intended. For a brief season, he manifested some disposition to perform his duty in this regard; but it soon became evident that he had no intention of redeeming his pledge, but every intention to violate it. Doubtless, this was one of the reasons which drew from Mr. SUMNER the strong expression that it was the duty of Congress either to depose the President, or to remain permanently in session, as a constabulary force, to watch his conduct. Has the Senator from Massachusetts valid reasons for putting a significant interpretation upon the threat of the President to precipitate a fresh struggle? Have the organizations, existing throughout both North and South, ostensibly to make a raid on Mexico, any connection with this matter?

MR. ROLLINS, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, has been waked up by the newspapers to a consciousness of the fact that immense frauds are perpetrated upon the revenue. These frauds, though not confined to one subject, are particularly conspicuous in alcohol and whiskey. In respect to these, fraud has been the rule, and honesty the exception. Distillers of integrity have stood little or no chance. Of course, frauds so numerous and gigantic have not been consummated without the knowledge and participation of Revenue officers and officers of the United States Courts. The hundred million dollars of which the government has been defrauded has enriched a good many place-holders. The whole affair is utterly disgraceful; and terribly illustrates what sort of men have been allowed to secure responsible appointments by sustaining the President against Congress.

MR. SENATOR BIGHAM informs us that while the Judiciary Committee will meet in this city to inquire into discriminations by railroad companies against the interests of the citizens of this Commonwealth, it will not assemble here as soon as he hoped. It will be here on or before the middle of October, and due notice of its coming will be given, so that all who desire to be called as witnesses may have an opportunity.

THE Paris Moniteur is specially malignant towards Mexico for executnig Maximilian, and scarcely less so towards the United States for opposing the French intervention. It carries its malice towards our country so far as to hope it may swallow the whole Mexican Republic.

[From the Independent.]

THE NEW HOPE OF LABOR

BY HORACE GREELEY.

Co-operation is not a hypothesis. Its value does not depend upon the soundness of any political or social theory. It has been subjected to the test of actual experiment, with signal and enduring success. How far the principles may be profitably carried, we cannot yet say; but enough has been demonstrated beyond cavil to justify sanguine, far-reaching anticipations. The aim of this article is simply to explain to those whose attention has not hitherto been called to the subject the nature and workings of the central idea.

Let us employ the business of shoemaking to illustrate the principle:

In and around the city of New York several thousands of men and women gain their livelihood by the manufacture of all manner of boots and shoes. Some of them are foremen or cutters, earning $20 to 30 per week; the ordinary journeymen earn from $10 to $20 when in full work; the women, by binding, earn from $2 to $6 per week. All are liable at any moment to be thrown out of employment by mere dislike, suspicion, or caprice; all hold a relation of virtual antagonism to their employers, who occupy an intermediate position between the actual producers and the consumers of shoes. The workman wants more pay; he is under a constant temptation to slight his work—to make appearance serve instead of faithful performance—and he is liable to be cheated out of his earnings by the roguery or bankruptcy of his "boss;" who, on his part, may fail through no fault of his own, but because insufficient patronage, exorbitant rents, and falling markets have devoured his capital.

Let 1,000 (more or less) of the shoemaking men and women subscribe their respective savings to form a working capital, say of $100,000 in shares of $50 to $100 each. Let them assemble and choose a manager or general agent, who combines experience with capacity, and who can give ample security for his fidelity to his trust. Let the manager hire a suitable building, buy the requisite stock and fixtures, and commence the manufacture and sale of shoes for account of the company, giving employment to the stockholders, and, at times, to others also, paying each fairly for his or her work, and selling the product to customers, and to the trade, should custom ever prove inadequate. Let the public be fairly advised that this is a workmen's concern—that its products are made upon honor and are sold at fair prices, to the profit of the producers alone. It does seem that the great body of consumers, being themselves workingmen and women, would prefer to buy at this shop, provided the goods and the prices are satisfactory.

The advantages to be realized by the system are briefly these:

1. Steady Work.—The public demand for shoes is nearly constant. The makers would be paid such wages as the prices obtained for their work would justify; but shoes could always be sold for more than the cost of the stock. In good times their earnings would be liberal; in dull times they would be moderate; but each worker would keep doing, and would always have something to carry home to his family on Saturday night.

3. Just Recompense.—Whatever the wearer paid for his shoes, the maker would receive, less the inevitable cost of rent, interest on capital, management, etc. If the wearer paid $1 for the making of a pair of shoes, the maker could hardly fail to receive 90 cents of it.

2. Constant Incitement to Saving.—Under the ordinary wages system, nine tenths of our journeymen save nothing. When trade is dull they cannot; when it is brisk they do not. Liberal earnings are squandered in drink, in excursions, in every fashion of degrading sensuality. The journeyman marries poor, if at all; when children swarm around him, he cannot save if he would. Discouragement is drowned in drink; he loses hope and staggers aimlessly into a pauper's grave, leaving his children to charity, and to run the same dreary round. But a co-operator must have saved something to form the nest egg of the enterprise, whereof the capital will always need to be enlarged. When trade is good, the business will need extension; when trade is bad, all will wish to keep their products for sale in better days, so as not to have them sold at inadequate prices. Let such a concern start with a capital of $100,000, and the associates would strain every nerve thenceforth to double and treble it.

Increase of Self Respect.—The workmen regularly employing and paying themselves, choosing and changing their own agent or manager, and maintaining a vigilant oversight over their common interests, would inevitably be more sedate, considerate, dignified, than so many "tramping jours." They would find little time for target shooting or games of any kind. They would be responsible, tax paying members of the community, alive to its well being, and solicitous for its prosperity. Such a body would not develop one drunkard or other reprobate where the system of journey-work turns out a dozen.

Such are some of the manifest advantages of co-operation. The hours of labor would readily adjust themselves. He who chose to work but eight hours would do so; if he effected as much as his neighbor, who devoted ten or twelve to his work, so much the better. Journeymen and employers being identical, it would not be possible to prejudice or array one class against the other. There would be no selling on credit, and of course no bad debts. If goods could not be sold so as to pay every one each Saturday night, the workmen would blame no one, but await the sale of his own property by the agent of his choice. In short, peace and thrift would supercede war and waste.

Of course, I have aimed to exhibit a single aspect of co-operation. How it may be applied to trade, or the supplying of each family with needful food, and to ministering most economically to other wants, I may set forth at another time. I now seek only to call the attention of the wise and good to the principle, and bespeak for it their favorable regard. I sadly err if it be not destined to brighten the history of our age, and improve the condition of labor throughout Christendom.

The Trip to Europe.

There are several ladies who keep their state-rooms from the beginning, eating nothing, holding nothing, crying to the Captain to stop the ship and put them on shore, and asking piteously whether the next wave will be as big as the last one. These are hauled up on the fourth day, and have a sensation of being bounced into the air and left hanging there. But none are so utterly miserable as the ship's bride, who came on board with her groom in a new traveling dress of silver colored poplin, with a tear on her white veil as she bade her mother good-by, dropped upon her groom's arm, and thought of love, protection, Paris, and presents. In two hours she has a sensation, as she stands on the hurricane deck, of having eaten too much fruit cake. This increases as the ocean draws nearer, and finally resolves itself into a great ache, both in the head and stomach. Proud as a Sioux brave stands her husband. Pale as a captive squaw is she wondering whether such pains are immediately consequent upon the marriage state, and wishing she were single again, or had taken the other man. At last she fades below, like the specter of a mermaid, and sobs her pillow-case full. Poor dear! She thinks that John will be disgusted; while John, like a born surgeon, is running for hartshorn, salts, Congress water, and brandy, all of which are thrown at him out of the depths of her distress, and she lives to believe that the first week of marriage is the weariest of life.

THE Chicago Republican thinks that St. Louis offers a broad field for missionary work. It says that a St. Louis Sunday is a splendid holiday. Beer gardens and beer-houses are in full blast. The best bands of the city are always engaged for the people's amusement. The parks are crowded, and the whole city seems to regard Sunday as a gala day. In the evening the theatres (German) are thronged, and there are several of them, and the largest audience we ever saw at any theatre in St. Louis was of a Sunday evening at the Varieties Theatre to witness the opera of "Five Hundred Thousand Devils," when the house was literally packed from "pit to dome." In no city is there so good a chance for missionary work as in St. Louis; not proselyting, but bringing those into the fold who never have been to church, never go to church, and are actually heathen. Here is, then, good work for the various religious denominations of the country. Instead of getting up societies, as Sleek says in the play, "to send moral tracts, and red flannel shirts to every fresh born Ethiopian babe," let them plant their banners in St. Louis, and go to work.

—The second annual session of the National Labor Congress will be held in Chicago, on the third Monday in August next, (19th.) Every trades' union, workingmen's union and eight hour league in the country will be entitled to one delegate for the first five hundred members or less, and one delegate for every additional five hundred or fractional part thereof.

—Internal Revenue Commissioner Rollins has issued a circular requesting bankers, brokers, merchants and others who use revenue stamps to destroy the stamps when the instruments upon which they are used cease to be valuable, and are thrown into waste-paper baskets. Persons are now engaged in collecting these stamps, and preparing them to be used over again.

—Extensive deposits of coal have been discovered on the line of the Union Pacific Railway, Kansas Branch, about one hundred and seventy miles from Pond creek, on the route of Alberquerque. Mr. Sanders, the proprietor of the Santa Fe stage line, reports the veins from 11 to 15 feet thick. Specimens received at St. Louis are pronounced a good quality of bituminous coal. At three feet a vein has also been discovered, twenty miles east of Fort Harker.

—A dissatisfied couple in Cleveland, Ohio, quarreled the other day, when the husband converted his property into cash, intending to separate altogether and leave the city next day. He deposited forty-five hundred dollars between the cloth and lining of his vest, where his wife found it in the night. She substituted an old almanac, and the next day they took different trains, he going to Toledo in blissful ignorance of his loss, and she to her friends in Indiana, with the money.

—The photograph business of Yale College has become important. Here is a statement regarding it which would indicate that the young gentlemen of Yale are as fond of seeing themselves as others see them:

"The custom of exchanging photographs has grown to wonderful dimensions. The total picture bill of each class is between $4,000 and $5,000. The total weight of the photographs purchased is about twenty-five hundred pounds. A contract has of late years has been made by the different classes with an eminent photographer of Lowell, Mass., who comes to New Haven at the beginning of the senior year, takes negatives of the members of the class; and spends the remainder of the year in printing photographs therefrom."

COE'S DYSPEPSIA CURE

Is prepared by the originator of the justly celebrated Coe's Cough Balsam. Mr. Coe has never prepared a medicinal article for public and general use but what has stood the strongest tests, and has always borne the palm of victory over every disease it has been certified to cure. Will you who are suffering from dyspepsia, indigestion, nausea, sick headache, cholera morbus, dysentary and general debility of the whole system, try one single bottle? We will never urge you again if we fail in this case. Our own knowledge of its merits, the united testimony of all who have ever tried it, the encomiums of hundreds of our own neighbors, your duty to yourself and the beneficial results, as certain as sunshine, all urgently, persistently urge you to try just one bottle. If what we say is not correct—if our statements concerning its wonderful virtues are not found to be true—if you do not say that the operation of the medicine is instantaneous and wonderful—we will renounce our profession, cease to cater to the public health, and retire from the field, admitting that we are incompetent to compound a medicinal preparation which would be entitled to your confidence.

A TIMELY WARNING.

It is especially important at this time, when the markets of the United States are flooded with the direst poisons, under the name of imported liquors and when domestic compounds purporting to be medicinal, but not a whit less pernicious, are heralded to the world as "sovereign remedies," that the public should fully understand the facts. Be it known, then, that while all the diffusive stimulants called liquors are impure, and all the Tonics containing alcohol are manufactured with a fiery article containing amyl or fusil oil, a mortal poison, HOSTETTERS' CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS contain none of these things, but are a combination of pure essence of Rye with the pure juices of the most valuable stomachic, antibilious and aperient herbs and plants, and that as a safe and rapid remedy for Dyspepsia and all its kindred complaints, this preparation stands before the world without a rival or competitor. Its sales to-day are equal to the combined sales of all the other tonics advertised in the United States, and the certificates which authenticate its usefulness are signed by individuals of the highest standing in every professional calling and walk of life. Beware of imitations and imposters.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Powell, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodnue, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in leucorrhoea, gleet, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations; and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5.

Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street.

Youngstown, Ohio, June 17th, 1867.

Messrs. Burke & Barnes, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GENTLEMEN—We ship you, to-day, by railroad, a safe of your make, for a few repairs. The safe went through the disastrous fire that occurred here on the 6th of March last, burning our store and warehouse, and we are glad to inform you that the papers taken out of the safe after the fire were not harmed in the least. We did not suppose any safe, especially so small a size, could possibly stand such a fire, and when we discovered the papers all safe and sound, we were agreeably disappointed. We will give you an order for a large size safe when we get into our new store.

Truly yours,
je27:a16 W. & A. J. PACKARD.

CAPE MAY,

CAPE ISLAND.

Since the close of 1866 much enterprise has been displayed at this celebrated sea-shore resort. New and magnificent cottages have been erected; the Hotels have been remodeled; a fine park, with a well made one mile drive, has been inaugurated; and in all the essentials of a popular summer resort, a spirit of improvement is largely manifested.

The geographical position of Cape Island is in itself a peculiar feature, when properly understood—situated in the extreme southern portion of the State, and occupying a neck of land at the confluence of the Delaware Bay with the Atlantic Ocean, it becomes entirely surrounded by salt water, hence favored by continual breezes from the sea.

The bluff furnishes a beautiful view of the Ocean, Delaware Bay, and picturesque back country, taking in Cape Henlopen distinctly at a distance of sixteen miles. The beach is acknowledged to surpass any other point upon the Atlantic coast, being of a smooth, compact sand which declines so gently to the surf that even a child can bathe with security.

Added to these attractions is the fact that the effect of the Gulf stream upon this point renders the water comparatively warm—a point not to be overlooked by persons seeking health in ocean bathing.

The distance from Philadelphia to Cape Island is 81 miles by rail, and about the same distance by steamer down the Bay, and by either route the facilities for travel promise to be of the most satisfactory character. The Island has Hotel and Boarding-house accommodations for about ten thousand persons. The leading Hotels are the Columbia House, with GEORGE J. BOLTON as proprietor; Congress Hall, with J. F. CAKE as proprietor, and United States, with WEST & MILLER as proprietors, all under the management of gentlemen who have well established reputations as hotel men.

West Pennsylvania Railroad Co. vs. Duquesne Borough—How the Complainants and the Court Were Headed Off.

The West Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in filling up and occupying the old canal bed for a roadway, did a good thing generally for Duquesne borough, but in removing what was properly termed a nuisance, it is questionable whether with the advantages which have resulted there are not some disadvantages, or whether the difficulties in the matter of opening cross highways has in any measure been removed. On this score the borough authorities and the railroad company have had some wrangling, particularly as to the matter of constructing a road from Bank Lane to a point opposite Herr's Island, to do which it became necessary to cross the railroad track, requiring the embankment on one side to be graded down and made ascending on the other. To this the railroad company objected, and determined that the highway should not be made. The borough authorities persisted in what they conceived to be their rights, and authorized the work to be done. It was commenced and several arrests were made, on complaint of the railroad company. Finally, it was resolved to take the matter into Court, and on Thursday last, W. C. Moreland, Esq., the energetic and able Solicitor of the Company, gave notice to the borough authorities that he intended applying to the Court for a preliminary injunction to restrain them from proceeding with the work of constructing the road across the railway track. The application was made before Hon. E. H. Stowe, one of the Common Pleas Judges, on Friday, and granted at eleven o'clock on that day. J. C. McCombs, Esq., was present representing the respondents. The Burgess of Duquesne borough, Mr. Moul, was also in attendance, and waited, as a matter of convenience, as he stated, to receive the order of the Court. This was handed to him, and its requirements being fully explained, he departed at once, as was presumed, to see that the mandate was complied with, his personal presence, and the delivery to him of the paper, as one of the respondents, obviating the usual necessity of a Sheriff's officer formally serving it. The "dodge" will be seen in what further we have to say. Mr. Moreland, the railroad company's Solicitor, gave notice, on Thursday, of his intention to apply for an injunction, which was the signal for the borough authorities to vigorously push forward the work which had been progressing, and the heaviest part of which was yet to be accomplished. At it the employes went with a will, the force was increased, the work continued uninterruptedly through Thursday night and on Friday, regardless of the notice (which had no legal binding effect) that the Court was to be applied to for an injunction. The Burgess, of course cognizant that the work was progressing, did not when he received the restraining order proceed directly to Duquesne borough, nor did he make his appearance until late in the afternoon, when all that the Borough authorities desired had been accomplished, and of course the Solicitor's efforts in behalf of the railroad company went for naught, since the work which they did not want done was done, and could not be undone. So the matter rests. The railroad company have been beaten at a game which they had themselves successfully played on several occasions.

Concerning Constables.

Experience and observation for some time past demonstrate that too little regard has been paid as to the character of men invested with the authority of constable. Men competent, perhaps, in all respects to discharge the duties, have been chosen at district elections, but in some instances, after assuming the duties, or perhaps not wishing themselves to follow the avocation, they have deputized persons to act in their stead, or with them, or independently, the law affording them such privilege. In so doing they have not been particular to inquire as to the competency in any respect of such persons, whether their character is good or bad, and if they have knowledge of their standing, are not influenced by it, a "consideration," we do not hesitate to assert, in some cases counterbalancing any scruples which may have been entertained. Once deputized, the giving of the required bond, to be approved by the Court, has been comparatively an easy matter. There are persons who, for twenty-five dollars, or less amount, will consent to go upon the bond of a deputized officer, caring not to inquire whether the person for whom they become bail for faithful performance of duties is of good or bad character, and shut out recollection of his antecedents. Political considerations not unfrequently govern those becoming responsible for men, whose very presence in their family circle would be suggestive of evil, and who they would on no consideration permit to associate with their sons and daughters. We have yet to hear of a case, in our reporting experience, of the bail of a rascally constable being held responsible, although we have recently reported cases, tried and not tried, where the offenders are now suffering imprisonment, and where they are running at large,—of constables doing things for which those imprisoned are properly suffering punishment, and for which those now at liberty should be placed on trial and hereafter not permitted to hold the office under color of which their villainy has been perpetrated.

Has the Court at length found it necessary to take some action in this matter, owing to the evil resulting from the loose manner in which constables have been deputized? It would seem so, from the order which we publish below. We claim no particular credit, nor are we so vain as to say it is "in accordance with our suggestion;" but our recent allusions to matters of "police extortion" may have had something to do with the making of the order. In the Court of Quarter Sessions, on Saturday, the following was read by His Honor Judge Stowe:

"In the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny county.

"And now, July 20th, 1867. It is ordered hereafter that all applications for the approbation of the Court of deputations by Constables shall be by parties in writing, signed by the applicant, and verified by oath, stating the age, residence and business of said applicant, accompanied by an affidavit of some citizen of the borough, ward or township for which the Constable was elected that said applicant is a qualified elector of the county of Allegheny, and of good moral character. BY THE COURT."

Elopement.

The citizens of the quiet little village of W——, in this county, were thrown into a high state of excitement on Thursday of last week, by the elopement of one of its fairest daughters with a young "limb of the law." The lady is about eighteen years of age, has more than ordinary beauty, and is an only daughter of worthy parents, and the gentleman, although not endowed with an over portion of this world's wealth, is of a good family, bears an unblemished character, and has a respectable standing in his profession. The attachment, which appears to have been mutual, has existed for some time, and every effort has been made to gain the consent of the young lady's mother to a union, but all to no purpose. When they became satisfied that the mother was inexorable, the elopement was planned and successfully accomplished. The entreaties ceased, as did the young gentleman's attentions for a time, and the mother was deceived into the belief that her better counsel had prevailed, and had ceased to trouble herself about the matter. But not so with the loving pair; their hearts were enlisted and in thus misleading their usually wily parent, they had gained an important point which was not to be lost. On Thursday morning the mother came to the city to do some shopping, and having spoken of her intentions to her daughter the day previous, they were that way conveyed to the gentleman who received the intelligence with joy and immediately set herself to work to prepare for a journey. The morning came, and with it the train, so anxiously looked for by the ardent young lovers, which was to convey the inexorable parent to the city, giving them an opportunity to consummate the happiness which had been so long deferred. The mother, little suspecting what was "in the wind," was assisted to the station, receiving more than the usual amount of attention, and a very affectionate farewell kiss from the daughter, who, as soon as the train had left with her mother, returned to her home and prepared herself for the coming event. She was joined in a few moments by her lover and they repaired to a minister, near at hand, when the "twain were made one," and all things being in readiness, their baggage was taken to the station and the now happy pair started on a bridal tour through the Eastern States. We learn the mother was sorely vexed over the matter, perhaps as much at being outwitted as anything else, but that she has, like a sensible woman, at last relented, and extended a full and free pardon to both daughter and son. May they never have cause to regret the steps they have taken.

A Neglected Case.

At the March term of the Criminal Court M. Dugan and Henry Chapman were indicted for the larceny of watches, money, &c., from Joseph Fritsch in the Diamond. Dugan had an oyster saloon in the basement of the house occupied by Fritsch, and Chapman was in his employ. Access was gained to the apartments of Fritsch through a trap door to the cellar, in which way the robbery was committed on a Saturday night. Next day, after the discovery of the robbery, Chapman made a clean breast of what he knew concerning it, and delivered up his share of the plunder, two watches—one gold and one silver—and two dollars in money, given him by Dugan, as he stated. Dugan gave bail for trial, and in default of bail Chapman was committed to jail. Dugan "jumped his bail" and Chapman remained in jail without trial, the original design being to use him as a witness in the case, his acknowledment of guilt and prompt delivery of stolen particles, perhaps under inducements held out, causing a disposition to allow him to escape punishment. In clearing up remanets on Saturday, Col. Duff, the District Attorney, called attention to the case of Chapman, and desired it disposed of, a plea of guilty having been entered by the prisoner. The Court, after hearing some of the circumstances, hesitated to pronounce sentence until further satisfied, as to the degree of guilt, and expressed a desire to inquire of the prosecutor, Mr. Fritsch, as to the time at which the confession was made and the stolen watches were returned. The case, therefore, went over till next Saturday.

National Railroad Convention.

At Altoona, last week, was held an adjourned meeting of the National Railroad Association, consisting of the chief officers of the various railroads of the United States. J. Edgar Thompson, Esq., presided. A constitution and by-laws were adopted for the government of the Association, after which the meeting adjourned until the first Thursday in October, when it will reassemble at New York. The object of the Association, as set forth in the preamble of its Constitution, is to secure a periodical conference of the officers of the companies represented, and their harmonious co-operation for obtaining useful information at the common expense for the common benefit, which may be made beneficial to those companies, and better enable them to serve the public, the improvement of railway construction, maintenance, and management. No action shall be taken to isolate the railway interest or place it in antagonism with other interests; and no political, sectional, or other proposition shall be admitted or countenanced tending to impair the harmony of the association or its good understanding with any portion of the public; and no interference shall be allowed with the controversies that may arise between the companies represented.

The general good health prevailing in the oil regions at the present time, is a subject of remark, considering the unusual exposure of the people and their irregular habits.

A few days since, a little child of Col McGranahan, of Sugar Grove, Mercer county, died from the effects of swallowing an iron bar.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SECOND BANKERS' AND MERCHANTS' GRAND PRESENTATION ENTERTAINMENT, will most positively take place at IRVIN HALL, on the evening of July 24th, 1867. The largest, greatest and most successful enterprise ever inaugurated in the world. A Present with every ticket.

The First Grand Concert was given on July 4th. It was a grand success. The mammoth Hall was filled with the elite of the city. The audience appointed a committee of nine of the leading Bankers and Merchants, to examine the corresponding numbers to the tickets and the Register Books, to see that all is correct before making the grand distribution of prizes at the last Concert, on the 24th of July.

A gift with every ticket. The Grand Distribution of presents will be conducted on the Mutual Benefit principle. A pro-rata Distribution of Profits to Ticket holders. Capital, $1,287,148. Tickets, $1 each. A present with every ticket.

A reference to the number of presents and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince the most skeptical of the great advantages which will accrue to all who participate in the enterprise; and the commercial and financial standing of the company, and the managers and bankers thereof, will, they hope, prove a sufficient guarantee of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with it will be conducted, and that the interests of ticket holders will be most scrupulously watched over and guarded. In fact it is the desire of the managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest. List of Presents: Cash—One cash present at $75,000; one cash present at $40,000; one cash present at $25,000; two cash presents at $10,000; three cash presents at $5,000; four cash presents at $3,000; five cash presents at $2,000; eight cash presents at $1,000; fourteen cash presents at $500; twenty cash presents at $300; twenty-five cash presents at $200; forty cash presents at $100; seventy-five cash presents at $50; one hundred and forty cash presents at $25; one hundred and fifty cash presents at $20; one hundred and seventy-five cash presents at $10; two hundred cash presents at $5—864 cash presents amounting to $256,000. Total value of presents, $1,287,148. Immediately after the grand distribution a list of the presents awarded will be printed and sent to each ticket holder. This will be the fairest and most impartial plan of distribution yet offered to the public. To this end they have consigned the sale of tickets and the registering of the same to CLARK, WEBSTER & CO., Bankers and Managers, No. 62 Broadway, New York, who will keep the records in their custody until the day of the grand presentation entertainment, when they will be handed over to a committee selected by the audience to make an impartial distribution of presents. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA cleanses and renovates the blood, instils the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors that make disease. ap15:MWF

HELMBOLD'S

Concentrated Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect safety.

TWO TABLE SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Railroad Excursion.

The Central Transportation Company intend to run a daily line of silver palace sleeping cars from Chicago to New York, and as a formal inauguration a grand excursion from New York to Chicago and return is proposed. The train will be a special one, composed of six of the splendid silver palace cars, and will leave New York at 9:30 this morning. The excursion will reach Harrisburg at 4:35 P. M.; Altoona at 9:20 P. M., and will leave this city on Tuesday morning at 2:10. They will stop at Crestline at 6:30 P. M. Returning they will leave Chicago at seven o'clock Thursday morning, and reach New York on Friday night at ten o'clock.

The company has extended invitations to about one hundred and thirty-five members of the eastern and western press, with their ladies. The press of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Albany, Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, will be represented. The Palace Cars are well known, and are sumptuous in the extreme. The excursion will be a grand affair.

An excursion train will leave this city at 11:25 A. M. for Cresson, where it will arrive several hours in advance of the silver palace excursion train, thus offering to the Pittsburghers who intend to participate in the excursion an opportunity for a delightful ramble through the beautiful grounds at Cresson, before the excursion train arrives.

Who is He? and Where is He?

A few weeks since a young man came to this city, gave his name as Charles Howard, and represented himself to be a cousin of General Howard, bearing in his possession letters of recommendation from the Young Men's Christian Association of Washington, D. C. He was introduced to the Superintendent of one of our Passenger Railways, and was employed as extra conductor. He did not retain the position long, as it was discovered that his returns averaged about five dollars per day less than any other car on the road, and he was dismissed.

This is not the last of this highly recommended young man, however, as he made his appearance at the store of Mr. Smythe, tobacconist, on Fifth street, Saturday evening, and represented to him that Mr. Ogden had sent him in to borrow twelve dollars to make change. Mr. S. gave him the money and he left for parts unknown. Mr. S. discovered in a few hours afterward that he had been guiled, but has been unable to get any clue to the whereabouts of Howard.

Where the Man Died.

Our worthy citizen, Joseph Spencer, Esq., the proprietor of the "Bull's Head" in the Second ward, called upon us on Saturday to express satisfaction with our truthful expose of the rascality of the constables who drove to a drunkard's death the stranger mentioned in Thursday's paper. He, however, desires it to be stated that the unfortunate man died at the Mercy Hospital, and not at the "Bull's Head," as we stated. The constables had so worried the man at the "Bull's Head" that two weeks previous to his death he stealthily removed his effects to Allegheny City, after which he took to excessive drinking, bringing on delirium tremens. He was then removed to the Mercy Hospital, where he died a miserable death. Previous to the blackmailing of the deceased, he was sober, industrious and steady.

The Japanese "All Right."

The manager of the Japanese troupe informs us that Wednesday night will positively be the last of their exhibitions in this city, and that for this (Monday,) Tuesday and Wednesday evenings there will be an entire change of programme. To-night little "All Right" will perform his terrific flight for the first time. The performance will be enlivened by a genuine Japanese comedy, in which the entire troup appears, in the great "Comic Work act," which will be accompanied with several pieces of instrumental music—operatic airs from the best Japanese masters. The managers propose to give a Matinee on Wednesday for which seats can be secured without extra charge. Persons wishing to attend the Matinee had better secure their seats at once, as the house will be densely crowded.

Larceny by Bailee.

Peter Meigerger made information before Alderman McMasters against Adam Rush, charging him with larceny by bailee. The deponent alleges that the defendant has in his possession a trunk and clothing belonging to him, which he refused to give up, after having been requested to do so frequently. The facts of the case are as follows: Meigerger is a German, who came to this country some months since and was hired by Rush, who is a dairy man. Rush took Meigerger and his baggage in his wagon and hauled them to his home, where he was set to work, but for some reason he did not remain long. After leaving Rush, he sent for his trunk, which Rush refused to give up unless he would pay him for hauling it out. A warrant was issued, Rush arrested and held in five hundred dollars for his appearance at Court.

Major Albert Harper.

Our gallant young townsman, Maj. Albert Harper, previous to entering the army was a student at the Rensellaer Polytechnic School, at Troy, New York. Having served his country in the field, earning for himself a splendid record, and after recovering from a severe wound received in battle, he resumed his course at the institution referred to. We are pleased to learn from a Troy paper that our young friend, after two years of hard study, has graduated with honor, receiving the degree of Civil Engineer. On the occasion of his graduating he read a thesis on the Manufacture of Steel by the Bessemer Process, which is spoken of as a very able and ingenious production. The friends of Maj Harper, and they are legion, will cordially welcome him back to his native city.

Postmaster in Trouble.

Some time ago, Waldo T. Davis, Postmaster at Van Wert, Ohio, was charged with having broken open letters and abstracted money therefrom. In this emergency, he deemed "absence of body" preferable to "presence of mind," and gathering up his garments, fled to Vermont. Close upon his track followed the avenger—Deputy United States Marshal Darius Evers, of Van Wert—and the delinquent was arrested at Brattleboro in that State. He was brought to this city yesterday, and after a partial examination before Commissioner White, was placed under bonds of $5,000 for his appearance one week from to-day. He procured the required bail and was set at liberty.

Preliminary Injunction.

On Saturday, J. R. Large, Esq., on behalf of Mr. Edward McGinniss, applied to the Court of Common Pleas for an injunction against the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad Company, to restrain them from obstructing a culvert on the premises of Mr. McGinniss, in the vicinity of Cork's Run. The culvert is at a large filling across a ravine or valley, and is used as a passage way for cattle, &c., its obstruction is, therefore, a serious inconvenience. W. C. Moreland, Esq., represented the respondents. A preliminary injunction was granted, and the argument upon the merits fixed to take place on Saturday.

Assault and Battery.—Michael Cuff made information before Alderman McMasters, against Anthony Daily, charging him with assault and battery. The parties were engaged in building a brick culvert on the Monongahela wharf, and differed as to which could do the greatest amount of work in the shortest space of time, the difference ending in a fight in which Cuff came out second best. A warrant was issued for Daily.

Armed to the Teeth.—Two thieves, arrested for stealing at Erie, were walking arsenals. The pair had a big horse pistol, one cartridge ditto, one four-barreled ditto, one villainous looking spring dirk knife, one slung shot, and various minor articles that would be handy as weapons. They would be very pleasant visitors to have in a house, especially if the host liked excitement.

An exchange says that it is a safe rule to wet the wrists before drinking cold water, if at all heated. The effect is immediately and grateful, and the danger of fatal results may be warded off by this simple precaution.

Travel is increasing on the various railroads leading to and from the city.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, July 20, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 139¾; Eighty-one bonds, 110½; Five Twenties, 1862, 111½; Five Twenties, 1864 109¼; Five Twenties, 1865, 109⅛; Consols, 108¾; Seven Thirties, 108@107⅝; Ten Forties, 102⅜. Stocks—Erie Railroad, 71¾; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 80¾; Chicago and Rock Island, 100¾; Chicago and Northwestern, 45½; Chicago and Northwestern preferred 70¾; Fort Wayne Railroad, 102; Michigan Southern Railroad, 79¾; New York Central, 106¾; Western Union Telegraph Company, 48½. Mining shares—Corydon, 1,60; Quartz Hill, 2,05; Gregory, 6,70; Smith & Paramalee, 5,70.

Gold is decidedly lower to-day, and closed at 139¾. The exports were light when compared with previous Saturday's shipments. Some holders of large amounts of gold became tired of paying a heavy premium for having it carried whilst their currency would have yielded them a handsome profit in either Government securities or stocks. It seems now as if the incoming crop would show its weight on the gold and exchange market, even political agitation is unavailable for the bulls in the gold room. Government securities are firm but not active, and parties who were anxious to invest a few days ago have changed their minds and await lower prices, which inevitably are to come soon; it may be safely said before the first of September. Railroad shares are firm for all good dividend paying roads, but fancy shares are looked upon with distrust. Mining shares are dull, and Corydon is likely to decline considerably before a rise can be engineered.

—We understand that an act has been prepared to be submitted to Congress at the regular winter session, which is designed to enforce the distinctions between the State and National Banks heretofore attempted by the Comptroller without regard to law. The object is to force all the capital used in public banking to organize under the national system, and on this point the New York Journal of Commerce says:

"Capital is sensitive on the subject of much governmental interference, and it is far easier to accomplish almost any other work by violent legislation than to inspire financial confidence in a system which does not otherwise recommend itself. We know the object of such legislation, and we can see that radical measures might force the existing State banks to withdraw from the field, but just there we look for a hitch. It is one thing to break up long-established relations by oppressive Congressional enactment, but quite another to substitute a new arrangement for the destroyed. The friends of the National Banking system rely on their strength, and count largely on the political influence they control; but a slight turn of the screw at an inopportune moment would reveal the radical defects in their system, and leave the mass of them a helpless ruin, to the popular indignation. We suggest, therefore, that they draw upon their political resources less liberally, and leave a little more to time and experience. The public have been patient with them, but they are not so invulnerable that they can afford as yet to go into a free shindy with the old-fashioned prejudices of those who still have something at stake in the country. If the 'smashing of glass' is substituted for reason and argument, the broken windows will not all be one side."

—It transpires, in connection with the effort of some of our banks to increase their deposit accounts, that the officers are not only offering merchants extra inducements in the way of selling them eastern exchange at lower rates than other banks, but they also offer to put up bonds with their depositors as security for their balances. We are really astonished that any bank officer should make any such proposition. It is short-sighted policy, and can only result in loss to any bank that pursues it. We do not believe there is a bank in the city that requires to resort to such an expedient to increase its business; for they are all paying fair dividends, and when our best merchants are making but small profits, the bankers ought to be satisfied. But all this is the result of breaking over the line and paying interest on deposits, which every sound banker will guard against, either on the part of his own officers or on that of his customers.—Chicago Republican.

—The speculative movement on the Stock Exchange is less decided, and buyers for the moment are less eager. The "crop argument" is as good, if not better, than ever, but it is evident that buying on this line has become exhausted, and that a new story must be found, upon which recent purchases can be unloaded at a profit. The money market has apparently touched its lowest summer range, and no further aid can be looked for in this quarter. On the other hand there is a certainty that the movement of the cotton, wool and grain crops will drain the Atlantic cities, where alone money is cheap, of currency, and give to lenders, in place of four per cent. seven on call, and a smart commission indirectly in addition. Under the National Banking Law there is not permitted periodic expansions to move the crops, such as were shown under the old State laws, where no limit was known except the credit of the borrower, and the prudence or rashness of the lender. At this time it is conceded by bankers that a full crop of all the staple articles is to be marketed upon an amount of bank credits and currency wholly inadequate at the present scale of prices of commodities for the purpose. Following natural laws, the supply of currency and credits being unequal to the calls upon them, rates of interest should advance, and prices fall, until the available capital can move the crops. It should not be forgotten that while the time for moving the crops approaches, the Treasury is paying off the compound notes, which hold such an important position in the reserve of legal tenders in banks, thus making the banks, at a time when more currency and bank credits are needed, less able to extend them to the public. The Treasury is steadily contracting the legal tender money, and from the customs revenue, internal taxes, and the sale of bonds, will be able to perform its duties, and work back to specie payments vigorously. The ability to pursue this course will advance the buying power of the now decreasing volume of paper money, and people cannot be too careful in making new engagements.—New York Tribune, 19th.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, July 20, 1866.

The general markets have been moderately active during the past week, though less excited, and, generally speaking, prices have undergone but little change. The most important feature of the week has been an arrival of new Flour, and several lots of new Wheat have been purchased for future delivery, and one small lot of the latter arrived on Friday from Westmoreland county. Next week, it is thought, that new Wheat will commence to come in from the adjoining counties pretty freely, and a week or so later we may look for new crop Barley, Oats and Rye.

GRAIN—We are cognizant of one of our grain houses having purchased one thousand bushels of new Westmoreland county Wheat on Friday, but we did not learn the price—other sales of same kind of Wheat at $2,40. Oats firm and scarce but unchanged; sale of 300 bush, on track, at 84c; 83 sacks do at 85c; 600 bush, in elevator, at 85c, and small sales in store, at 88@90c. Corn is firm and scarce and unchanged; sale of 1 car Shelled at 90c, and 100 bush, in store, at $1. Rye is quiet and nominal at $1,25@1,30. Nothing doing in Barley.

FLOUR—The demand seems to keep pace with the supply, and while the market is steady and moderately active, prices are without quotable change. We continue to quote at $11,50@12,50 for Spring Wheat; $13@14 for Winter Wheat; and $16,00@17,00 for fancy brands. New Tennessee Flour is selling at $15 wholesale, and $16 retail. Rye Flour is quiet and unchanged at $8.50.

PROVISIONS—The excitement in Bacon seems to be subsiding somewhat, but prices, nevertheless, are well sustained, though unchanged—11¾@12c for Shoulders; 12½@13½c for Ribbed and Clear Sides, and 21@22c for Sugar Cured Hams. Dried Beef may be quoted at 24@25c. Lard at 13@13½c, and Mess Pork at $23,50@24.

MILL FEED—Under the influence of increased arrivals the market is a shade easier, though as yet prices are unchanged. Sales at $1,60 for Bran; $2 for Shorts, and $2,25 for Middlings.

POTATOES—Scarce, firm and in demand. Sales of old at $1@1,10 per bush, and new $4,50 per barrel.

GREEN APPLES—In good demand and we can report regular sales at $5 to $6 per bbl.

BUTTER—Is dull but unchanged. Prime fresh butter in firkins may be quoted at 16@17, and common packed at 8@10c.

EGGS—There is a steady demand and we can report regular sales at 22c for fresh packed.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,

CRUDE—The market was remarkably quiet to-day, the reported sales in the aggregate only reaching 3100 barrels, against 32,000 bbls on Friday, and 42,000 on Thursday. There was apparently an "offish" feeling in the after part of the day, and some holders, fearful of a relapse, were restive, and would probably have made slight concessions in order to effect sales. We can report a sale of 1500 bbls on "first water," at 11½c, and $1 per bbl advanced; and the same oil was subsequently sold at 12c, to be delivered on "second water." If these operations can be taken as a criterion, prices, compared with yesterday, are off from ¼ to 1 cent per gallon, as then oil sold readily at 12¾ for first water, and some holders thought 13c might have been obtained. It may be that this being the last day of the week had something to do with the apparent depression, as usually Saturday is the poorest day of the week for business, but it is hardly reasonable to suppose that this alone would have arrested the intense excitement which prevailed during the entire week. The most remarkable feature about the whole thing is the fact that the foreign markets are reported better, telegrams to-day reporting Antwerp at 45 francs, while yesterday the Liverpool quotation was 1s 3d, though it should be borne in mind that even at the advance, prices here are still relatively higher than there.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was also quiet to-day, though, so far as we could learn, there is no quotable change in prices. There were two 500 barrel sales for August, at 33c, delivered in Philadelphia, and we presume, in the absence of sales, that July is still worth 34@35c. For the late months there is not so much inquiry, but as a general thing, our refiners do not seem satisfied with the figures now being offered for those particular deliveries, feeling pretty sanguine that by that time oil will command much better prices than at present; and, besides, these future deliveries, as a general thing, are not regarded with much favor by refiners, as in many cases, if the market goes down the buyer "goes up."

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

RIVER NEWS.

Passengers arrived at New Orleans from Red river, Texas, report that on the trip up, when about ten miles from New Orleans, a water spout was seen to form upon the river, and for some time fears were entertained for the safety of the boat. The spectacle is said to have been grand in the extreme. It was witnessed with great admiration, not unmingled, however, with terror, as it might have caused the sinking of the steamer. A water spout on the river is of unusual occurrence.

The Natchez Democrat says that Mr. Dudley, who is planting on Bullitt's Bayou, suffered a severe loss the other day, by the caving into the river of three or four acres of landing. A steamer had just put off a large consignment for Mr. Dudley. The boat had scarcely left the landing when the ground caved in, rendering the freight a total loss.

The St. Louis Democrat, of Thursday, says: The Magenta and Republic were among the distinguished arrivals yesterday, from New Orleans direct, coming up, the first in a little over five days; the Pittsburgher in about four and three quarter days. The Republic had to this port, 74 children, 125 passengers in the cabin.

Capt. Dan. F. Sayre, clerk, Horatio Booth, pilot, pilot John Levisey, and others, for a long time owners and officers in the old Ohio Company—comprising the steamers Ohio No. 1, Ohio No. 2, Ohio 3, Fannie McBurnie, &c.—yesterday purchased the Harry Dean for $16,000, and will introduce her in the Marietta trade, leaving here on their first trip Monday next. They introduce the Harry Dean in the trade to remain there until they wear her out, or their increasing trade compel them to build a larger boat. The tug Carrie Williams is receiving new machinery at the foot of Ludlow street. Capt. A. Q. Ross returned from Louisville yesterday. Capt. Jas. Vandergrift, of the Westmoreland, left for Pittsburgh in last night's train. Capt. J. W. Anawalt left for Louisville yesterday. Capt. Geo. L. Reppert leaves Marietta to-day for a trip to the east. The Muskingum river rose one foot on Wednesday. The R. R. Hudson, while on her upward trip from Louisville, on Wednesday broke a stern port at Westport. She will be repaired forthwith and return to Louisville today. The Bertha and towboat Collier are undergoing repairs on the Marine Ways, and the Clifton in the Eureka docks.

The St. Louis Republican of Thursday, says: The Ida Stockdale having delivered the cargo of the J. H. Trover in safety at Fort Benton, came down to the wreck and took on the machinery and started for this port; but at Fort Rice was met by the T. L. McGill with a lot of corn, &c., for Fort Benton, and an arrangement was made by which the Stockdale reshipped the machinery and again started for Fort Benton. The machinery, &c., of the Trover will be brought to this city by the McGill.

A telegram from Washington says the Secretary of War issued orders to commence the work of improving the Des Moines river rapids in pursuance of the recommendations of the Board of Engineers. Five hundred thousand dollars were appropriated by Congress to commence the work last winter.

It is probable that the R. E. Lee and Gen. Quitman will return to the Memphis and New Orleans trade when the steamboat business revives. The former is said to have made over $90,000 for her owners since she commenced running.

The river reporters of the great valley are traveling. Pat Higgins, of New Orleans, went to Paris; Dentzel, of the same city, is disbursing a few thousands on a tour to St. Louis, the East, and Canada; and English, of the Memphis Appeal, is off to Dubuque.

St. Louis papers say the number of boats which left that port this year, to date, for Forts Benton, Randall, Buford, Sully, Rice and Berthold was sixty-two, carrying 15,600 tons of freight. Twenty-three were side-wheelers, thirty-nine were stern-wheelers. Of the total number, twenty-seven have returned, leaving thirty-one to arrive; thirty-seven were laden with army supplies. One struck a log, and returned to St Louis for repairs; one grounded, was dismantled and abandoned; one sank and proved a total loss; and one broke a shaft and returned to St. Louis.

The St. Louis Democrat asserts that during the high water of three months past, a depth of eighteen feet of sand has been washed out of that harbor.

ST. LOUIS, July 18.—H. G. McComas, formerly of Cincinnati, has applied for the benefit of the bankrupt act, and represents his total assets as $425. In a few weeks from thirty to fifty steamers will probably be running out of this port, in addition to the present list. The Magenta is to be thoroughly repaired; she re-enters the Vicksburg and New Orleans trade in August. The Gallatin is in the wood business below Benton. She sells to steamboats at $18 per cord.

A Poughkeepsie telegram to the New York Herald says: The large steamer Drew passed this dock at five minutes to ten to-night making her trip from New York in less than four hours. She was followed closely by the Connecticut, the latter being two miles astern. Both boats were going very fast. The Connecticut appeared to be making two revolutions to the Drew's one. The moon shone splendidly, and the boats could be distinctly seen. There was but five minutes difference between the two boats when they disappeared from view.

It is known that yesterday a meeting of the prominent steamboatmen was held in this city for the purpose of harmonizing conflicting policies and interests. In due time the result of the meeting will be made public. At present it may not be out of place to give some facts in connection with steamboat matters which are of general interest and which may soon have something to do with determining the settlement sought by such meetings as that of yesterday.

At St. Louis there is a company known as the Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship Company, having a line of steamers, the best on the lower rivers, from St. Louis to New Orleans. By heavy losses and bad management generally, the company has become badly involved—the stock having depreciated to a merely nominal value. The property of the company is advertised to be sold by the sheriff under a deed of trust of about $600,000. Who will buy? This a question of considerable interest. It is reported that a gentleman largely controlling one of the lines on the upper river will be the probable purchaser. At any rate negotiations are reported to have taken place looking to such an event, by which a continuous line of boats will be run from St. Paul to New Orleans; the Northwestern Union Packet Company's boats taking the line from St. Louis up, and the Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship Company's boats taking the line from Saint Louis to the gulf, all under the control of Capt. Davidson. We give the report as we hear it. It is a scheme of great magnitude, but if it is once attempted there are influences at hand to make it a success.

The above is from the Dubuque Herald, of Wednesday, 17th. We cannot let it pass without remark. The control of the river commerce from St. Paul to New Orleans is sought by Captain Davidson of the Northwestern Union Packet Company. This is the highest aspiration of the season, and worthy of the Davidson, the "Napoleon of the Northwest." But there is no probability of his getting to be president of the St. Paul and New Orleans Packet Company at a very early day. The "Napoleon" seeks a consolidation with the Northern Packet Company, and of course, ultimate control of the consolidated interests. We believe these results also unattainable. The Company known as the Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship Company have indeed "a line of steamers, the best on the river, from St. Louis to New Orleans," and has had heavy losses, but the property of the company is not to be sold by the sheriff, and Mr. Davidson can't buy that property. Mr. Davidson had better show that the stock of the Northwestern Union Packet Company is worth 15 cents on the dollar, before making innocent papers like the Dubuque Herald imagine that he is about to buy the Atlantic line, whose stock promises to be at an early day worth par. However, a good deal of the Herald's article may be the mere emanation of an overheated brain. We like to see enterprises undertaken, however, and have no objection to additional tonnage being placed in any trade connected with St. Louis.—St. Louis Democrat.
